

Revellers enjoy first race of the year as jockeys aim for the finishing line

Shivaji Dutt

The usual crowd might have been missing from the Race Course stands this year owing to the surge in Covid cases, but the first race day of 2022 saw many attendees, looking their fashionable best, basking in the revelry. As the horses galloped towards the finishing line, the spectators could be seen cheering aloud and enjoying every moment of the day. We bring you glimpses of the first big event of 2022. Take a look...
